

SALES SUPPORTER

for the furniture producer Hjort Knudsen's North American market
(Full-time employment)

Are you attracted to the world of furniture?

Would you like to help a successful Danish Furniture Company in North America in an exciting, successful and growing family-owned business? Then you might be our new sales supporter!

For our North American sales office, we are looking for an employee who will work with sales support, customer service, and complaint handling. You will be well onboarded with an introduction and training period in our companies in Europe, and in the day to day you will work close together with our vice president sales on the North American Market.

Desirable competences you have:

- Flair in working and learning ERP-systems, so that you fast will learn our Microsoft AX system.
- Preferably office-, furniture store- or similar experience as well as practical sense and a flair for furniture construction.

You can answer yes to:

- You are structured in your work and have a sharp eye for detail.
- You are stable and conscious, with natural service genes and collaboration skills.
- You are robust and not easily affected personally.
- You can effectively communicate on all levels and with all types of people.
- You can maintain a good overview even when things are very busy and meet deadlines.
- You see diverse job functions as an exciting challenge and take pride in performing everyday routine tasks well.
- Desirable, but not required, is that you live in North or South Carolina or nearby.

Working hours: Full-time position. Weekends free.

Place of work: It is possible to work from home or in a shared office place.

Salary: According to qualifications.

Please send your application and resumé to: job@hjortknudsen.dk

We are looking forward to receive it.
